

The background of the cover is a high-contrast, black and white microscopic image showing several bright, irregularly shaped cells or clusters of cells. The cells are interconnected by a network of fine, branching filaments. At the top and bottom edges of the cover, there are four stylized DNA double helix icons, each positioned above and below a horizontal line.

Issue 2 | March 2003

McMASTER MEDUCATOR

McMaster's Medical Research & Health Ethics Student Publication